PRESENTATION.

A Tribute of Respect to a

Member of the Late Fire Brigade.On the occasion of Mr. F. McKenna's marriage to Miss Russell, to which reference was made in yesterday's Mail. A deputation of the late fire brigade waited on that gentleman at his residence last evening and presented him with a beautiful china tea set and a parlor lamp accompanied by the following ADDRESS.To Philip McKenna, Esq., foreman of the "Beacon" Hook and Ladder Company of the late Brandon Fire Department.DEAR SIR,—We, the members of the late Brandon Fire Department, beg leave to express our appreciation of your efforts to advance the interests of the late Department and the especial esteem in which you were held by the members individually, by presenting you with this gift, which in itself is both useful and ornamental, on this most auspicious occasion.We trust that you will not consider the mere intrinsic value of the gift, but that you will accept it in the spirit in which it is given, that of a fireman's best wishes. We also trust that at a not very distant day we may all reunite to continue the very pleasant friendship that we have just begun.Wishing you and your better half all the success and pleasure possible during a long lifetime, we remain,
Yours very truly,On behalf of the fire brigade,
G. W. ALEXANDER,
Chief Engineer of the late B. F. D.E. S. WISEWELL, Assistant Engineer of the late B. F. D.Mr. McKenna, who was taken by surprise, made a suitable reply, and then asked those present to partake of his hospitality, and they did so, thereby enjoying a very pleasant evening. Mr. McKenna and his bride left for the west today on a short wedding tour.

FIRE FIGHTERS.

The Citizens Form Themselves into a Brigade.A meeting was held in the fire hall last evening for the purpose of organizing a new fire brigade, and was well attended. Ald.
Angus was moved to the chair and Mr.
Adams was appointed treasurer. The meeting was formally opened and the election of officers proceeded with and resulted in Capt. Wastie being elected chief engineer and Mr. J. H. Fraser, assistant chief. At this juncture it was asked what position the Council towards the old officers; Ald. Angus explained that both officers were the leaders in the agitation for reorganization. The officers were recent and fully denied that they had taken any action in the agitation whatever. Capt.
Wastie was then elected, and in a lengthy speech explained what was required to be done to properly organize the brigade, and the result was, those who had volunteered their services divided themselves into three companies, and they in turn appointed their necessary officers as follows: Engine Company—Mr. Christie, foreman; Mr. Reinsbury, assistant; Mr. Coles, secretary-treasurer.
Hose Company—Mr. Lee, foreman; Mr.
Evans, assistant; Mr. Cope, secretary-treasurer. Hook and Ladder Company—Ald.
Duncan, foreman; Mr. Mundie, assistant;
Mr. Newart, secretary-treasurer.The brigade is now composed of citizens who have property in the city, but it is expected that they will only act in the meantime until the brigade can be organized on a good reliable foundation.

A Mean Trick

A telegram was received from the Legislators yesterday stating that they would remain in the city for a couple of hours after arrival. Wishing to give the party an opportunity to see the city, a number of gentlemen procured teams and awaited the arrival of the train at the depot, but to the surprise of all, when the train did arrive the carriages suddenly disappeared before the party had a chance of leaving the depot. It is not stated for what fact, but it is said that a few first class men sent the carriages away purposely because Mr. Norquay and his colleagues happened to be among them. It was a mean trick, and not at all becoming to a true Brandon citizen, and the aid did not escape the notice of either the Reform or Conservative members of the party.

The Brandon Daily Mail.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1893.

The Globe calls the Mail the Copperhead organ. If the Mail would only retort with brass face, the two would then stand about sizes.

The Globe asserts that Mr. Farquhar carried his election on frozen whiskey. If Mr. Jackson of Rockwood, had only got his bottles and barrels frozen before he set out to stupefy the voters, in his constituency, he would not be down among the dead men with $2,000 of costs on his shoulders.

Messrs. W. J. Gage & Co., the Ontario publishing house of school book notoriety have set up a dreadful wall because the new series of "Royal Readers" are likely to dispute the ground with them. So long as the Ontario Reform Government, with such an utter regard for freedom, gave them a monopoly of the trade it was all right, but now with a change in the dream, it is all wrong. The new series are certainly an improvement on Gage's books, and we hope to see them extensively used in this country.

There is a nice point of law, arising out of the election protest in East Northumberland. It has been brought out in evidence that Mr. Ferris, the candidate elected, gave a railway pass, several of which he held as a director of the Midland R. R., to a voter, and upon this the point hinges. Chancellor Boyd, one of the judges in the case, holds that as the pass cost no money, there was no corrupt act in the representative's handing it to a voter, but Justice Cameron, the other judge on the case, took the opposite view, and now the Court of Appeal is asked to settle the point.

While our Reform friends of the east are harping away on the monopoly of the C.P.R. they forget to tell their readers that that company have broken the monopoly in telegraphy, which was much required. The C. N. W. Company discharges its duty admirably, but people are not partial to monopolies when they can be fairly met. So far the press of Manitoba has to pay three prices for telegraphy, but we fancy that when the C. P. R. have connection with the western provinces, back of Lake Superior, a sweeping reduction will be made in present rates.

Some of the Grit prints are arguing that because stock prices were higher in 1882 under the National Policy than they are in 1893 under the National Policy, the N. P. must be a failure. If we were to argue that the stocks were more valuable in 1882 than they are in 1893, our contention would be just as sound as that of our neighbors; but we get the dead wood on them when we say these securities are higher since the N. P. than they were before its introduction, and we ask them why. They will not answer this; they will not publish the facts. Free traders and facts are mortal enemies.

Some of our Ontario Conferees are very anxious to know why Manitoba farmers don't go more into raising sheep. The reason is obvious. In the first place there is but a portion of the land that is suitable for that purpose, as the experience of Ontario farmers teaches them sheep thrive best on high land. In the next place, the country is so well adapted to the growth of wheat and the raising of cattle that farmers naturally strike that as the most money making part of their business. No doubt apples and other similar fruits might be raised here with some care and effort, but so long as people can buy the fruit for less money than it would cost to raise it, they naturally stick to the certain, and forego the pleasure of experiments. The same holds true of sheep raising. The future will bring about its legitimate results in due season.

Manitoba may fairly be congratulated upon having in the report of the Provincial Department of Agriculture one of the most valuable works of reference ever published by a young community. The report comprises about everything that has yet been learnt about the natural resources of the Province. It gives details concerning the culture and quantity of every crop produced, and all manner of valuable meteorological and other statistics. The thoroughness with which the work of writing, editing, and compiling the book has been done is testimony to the efficiency of the permanent head of the Department of Agriculture—Mr. Acton Burrows. The typography is excellent, and the whole work is very creditable to the Province.

An Ontario paper has the foregoing. If it is a fact the business of this department is so well managed without a presiding minister, as we believe it is, the absurdity of placing a Minister in charge and paying him a round salary besides must be all the more apparent.

The Globe is very anxious to know what the Conservative party will do for a leader when Sir John drops off. It says the party would be a headless mass without him. To illustrate the reality we can do no better than quote a conversation that once took place between two Irishmen, Pat and Mike, of course. It appears that Pat came to visit his countryman who happened to be a farmer with very inferior growing crops, and of course Pat took in the situation. "Well, Mike," said he, "I see ye have very poor crops this year—yeer whate is miserabul and yeer praties are the worst I ever see." "Vis," said Mike, "that is all very true, but while mine are so bad, I thank God Jim Hennessey's beeyant are worse." That is about the position the two Canadian parties would occupy even in Sir John's absence. The Conservatives would be laid off, but the Grits, as they now stand, are worse. They have no leader, and they do not know where to look for one.

The Belleville Intelligencer states that Sir John McDonald never advised the Governor-General not to assent to the Orange Incorporation Bill passed by the Ontario Assembly in 1873. If he did not advise the Governor-General then the latter must have withheld his assent on his own responsibility. Does the Intelligencer mean to assert that any Governor-General would venture to deal in this way with any public question affecting this country? The assertion is the result of ignorance of the way in which the administration of the country is carried on. Sir John McDonald, premier, did advise His Excellency to withhold his assent, and Mr. Bowell concurred in that advice.

So says the Globe. Now this is all just nonsense. Sir John never considered the Orange Bills passed by the Ontario Legislature. He simply returned them to Premier Mowat, with a polite note saying they were purely a Provincial matter, and that Mr. Mowat should either take the responsibility of assenting to them or rejecting them as he thought best himself. With the responsibilities on his own shoulders, Mr. Mowat threw them in the waste basket, although he also vetoed their passage on the floor of the house. This is just how the case stands to the letter.

A MISTAKE.

In her haste to develop the resources of India, it would appear England has made the egregious mistake of commencing the wrong way to work. The sagacious manipulators of Indian affairs have acted upon the belief that wealth could be secured by the construction of the machinery necessary for its distribution. The result is that an extensive failure of the harvest is anticipated, and the Government is considering the necessity for opening relief works to avert starvation in that country. This admission of error means that behind all the empty flourishes about the great prosperity in the Indian Empire, the British are in India, the rulers of a people which are literally subsisting without means. The demands of the Government for irrigation projects and for questionable speculations in railway projects are so excessive that between them and a civil death from starvation there is but little protection bond. The scanty residue of the yearly harvest, which remains after all tax demands have been fully met. It is well in this connection to remember the state is not possessed of unlimited wealth, and unbounded capital. Foreign capital has been poured in in extensive quantities without any measure of the requirements of the community, and taxation of an excessive weight has almost immediately followed. A large quantity of the imported capital has been spent in irrigation projects, many of which have proved a total failure.

The railways also were built with imported English capital, and those of them that pay assist in enticing English millionaires instead of the resident population. Before these roads were built the carrying trade was in the hands of the natives, and now those of them who were interested have lost their occupation. That carrying business furnished the support for many families in the country, and now that revenue has passed forever into the hands of strangers, it can be easily seen that this transference has done irreparable injury to the people, and this injury has been intensified by the almost useless expenditures in irrigation. These are terrible experiences and should teach very important lessons.

As a rule improvements for the country's welfare should be at least commenced by individuals rather than by the heads of governments. Suppose, for instance, that to every agriculturist had been given in exchange for his rude native plow and scantily fed bullocks with which the small patches are broken up a plow such as is used in England and a pair of Suffolk cart horses. The railways and the irrigation machines are luxuries the farmers of that country cannot afford to indulge in to any extent, but the English plow and horses, with a lessening of taxes that would permit the feeding of the latter, would be a boon well appreciated in the agricultural sections of the Indian empire.

TOWN TOPICS

BAXLEY has not yet commenced to cune in.

The price of oats fell from 35 cents to 30 cents today.

Money to loan on farm and city property. Forster & Buckle, insurance agents.

Owing to the great demand for wheat for new flour the price has gone up to 81 cents a bushel.

Wheat is beginning to move a little faster. Buyers are offering 81 cents a bushel for No. 1 quality.

The Langham Hotel is now one of the best hotels in the Northwest and equal to any in Winnipeg. It is fast becoming the aristocratic hotel in Brandon.

Tax contractors for the new court house are experiencing considerable difficulty in getting back moneys, notwithstanding they are paying $4.50 a day. Brick masons seem to be very scarce in the country at present.

A specimen of timber from the Rocky Mountains was left at the C. P. R. depot by a Brandon Alderman. The boys at the depot say that it makes excellent firewood.

TRAVELLERS' insurance tickets are now on sale at the C. P. R. depot in this city, and travellers may insure for $5,000 for 25 cents a day. There is no other agency west of Brandon.

Mr. C. WISNER has for investment $15,000 private funds on choice improved Syndicate lands, and an undivided sum of loan companies money on ordinary farm and city property at lowest current rates.

The first Assize Court will be held in Brandon on the 22nd of October. The Court will only be for non jury cases as no jurymen have been appointed. It is the duty of the Judicial Bench to see that proper accommodation is provided.

Mr. C. WISNER has removed his office to the Brandon House, corner of Pacific Avenue and 5th street, where he will be prepared to loan money and effect fire and life insurance as heretofore. A commodious private office, and all business will be strictly confidential.

Messrs. McLAREN and Mr. Christie, lumber dealers of this city, to-day purchased the entire old season's cut of Spruce lumber from Shields & Co's. saw mill, consisting of over a million feet. The price paid was in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Mr. C. WISNER has leased the Boarding Department of the Brandon House. First-class board and good beds at moderate charges will be the rule. The house is large and contains comfortable rooms. Mr. Wisner solicits the patronage of travellers, farmers, and also weekly boarders. Give the house a trial.

Mr. Robert Gunne, Forest Inspector for the Winnipeg district, is in this city. He is just returning from the Moose Mountain district, where he has been for the last two weeks. He says the land there is excellent, and the crop good. Moose Mountain is well timbered with poplar, balsam of gilead and birch.

Resignation Accepted.

The resignation of Rev. Mr. Boydell, rector of St. Matthew's Church, in this city, has been accepted by the Bishop.

St. Matthew's Church

The Congregational meeting of St. Matthew's church last evening, for the purpose of electing new church wardens, was largely attended. The matter was fully discussed, and it was found that the old wardens had been illegally appointed, hence it was expedient that new ones should be elected in their stead. This action was taken, and Dr. Spencer and Mr. B. Eaton were elected. A subscription list was also started to raise the amount required to meet the arrears of the clergyman's salary.

A Champagne Supper.

A pleasant party, amongst which were a number of the Brandon elite, assembled at the Grand View by invitation of Mrs. F. Boisseau for the purpose of partaking of the wine won by that lady at the convent bazaar, and also to take part in a raffi of a handsome cushion which was not disposed of at the bazaar. The evening was spent most enjoyably in making speeches, singing, etc. Father Rouillard made the speech of the evening. The Rev. Father's remarks were most liberal; he thanked all denominations for assistance given at the bazaar, and promised to return the compliment whenever it was in his power to do so. Mr. Killand and Mr. King sang several songs which added much to the pleasure of the occasion, and an Italian harp enlivened the proceedings with stirring strains of music from this instrument. Mr. Jones and Mr. Meredith were present and in a few well appointed remarks referred to the same contest. Mr. Collins, of Collins and Cameron, was attended with fortunate results in the raffi and carried away the cushion, which would make a room attractive by itself. The party dispersed at twelve o'clock, all testifying to having enjoyed a pleasant and edifying evening's entertainment.

CORRESPONDENCE.

HOP CULTURE.

To the Editor of the Mail.

Sir,—According to my promise, I will give you a few ideas on the propagation of hops. First the plants are taken from the surface roots of old plants, cut with two or three eyes, and after the land is prepared as for corn or potatoes, mark the ground in 8 feet squares; put three plants in each hill and cultivate with potatoes or corn. The second year place three 15 to 18 feet poles to each hill, spreading the tops in order to distribute the distance equally over the land; or train them on the horizontal principle, say one stake eight feet long to each hill. Then use No. 14 wire, running in squares, wrapping around each pole at the top. With a little attention they will yield each space, of 8 feet square. Thorough cultivation will insure from one to two thousand pounds per acre. Since seeing you, I have examined the native hops and find them of first-class quality, and I would cultivate them if I were planting in this country.

In drying, the process is similar to drying malt; when dry they are baled with a press in cloth sold for the purpose. I usually dry at night what are picked through the day. The situation should be as much sheltered as possible, as they are liable to bruise by the wind.

As to the price, they run about 30 cents per pound.

Any further information you may want on the subject I will be most happy to give you by applying to my address at Southend, Ont. I may state that the depth to plant is about two inches, on similar to corn planting.

P. S. WRIGHT.
Portage la Prairie, Sept. 15th.

MR. LAUSON'S LETTER.

The Editor of The Mail.

Sir,—An article headed "Civic Excursion" "what they saw" and "how they saw it" in the Brandon Sun a few days ago contained some very strange remarks about the "Woodworth mine" so called. I presume they mean the Saskatchewan Coal Mining and Transportation Co., of which Mr. J. E. Woodworth is the General Manager.

The article referred to stated that the "Woodworth Company were doing next to nothing." "Without capital and with an exhausted credit they had themselves pretty nearly at the end of their string."

Well, last month we had about seventy men employed and this month we have between eighty and ninety. In fact all the hands that can be profitably employed are now engaged rushing the work, and we expect to be able to ship coal in a few days.

The other statement "that they find themselves pretty nearly at the end of their string could not have been got on this Civic Excursion, and shows a personal malice which ought to be foreign to a council ballot, for ever since the first of July last when Mr. J. E. Woodworth took charge, the men have been promptly paid on the 10th of each month, and all hands are satisfied.

But the most curious part of it, no member of this civic excursion visited this mine, and that accounts for the heading clause, "how they saw it," and their object in publishing such misstatements must be either to injure an enterprise in which they try to make it appear they feel a deep interest, or to gratify a personal spite unbecoming the "civic excursion" against the private business of a gentleman. I have every reason to feel confident that under Mr. J. E. Woodworth's energetic and vigorous management this mine will soon prove a success.

JOHN P. LAUSON,
Mining Engineer and Supt.

VIRDEN.

Jots From the Pretty Prairie Village.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Elevator that the Ogilvie Milling Co. are building here is about completed, with the exception of the engine machinery which Mr. Ogilvie expects to have in position this week.

Quite a number of dwelling houses have been erected here this summer and still more are going up. Virden is going ahead like a prairie fire.

The Presbyterian church is about finished. Service was held in it on Sunday 16th for the first time. The Methodist Church is under construction and will be completed shortly. There is talk of building an English church here. Virden is bound not to be behind.

Dier & Co., have sold out their business to Wilcox & Lilly, of Swift Current.

Mr. J. H. L. Beckwith, who has been running the business here for Dier & Co. has gone to Portland, Oregon. He will be greatly missed by his friends here.

The Mooney House is about to change hands. Mr. Wm. Manuel, who is well known in this district, we hear is to be the proprietor. We wish Willie prosperity in his new vocation.

Swanson & Chitty, of the Grand Central Hotel, are doing a large business.

Downs Bros., general merchants, report trade booming. They are doing a big business in butter and potatoes, shipping large quantities to Swift Current, Medicine Hat, Moose Jaw, Calgary, and other points west.

Mr. Meek has gone east to Winnipeg to meet his wife and family who are on their way up from Nova Scotia. His assistant, Mr. McLean, reports business rushing.

The agent here at C. P. R. station is kept pretty busy by the large quantity of freight which is left here every day.

Farmers in this vicinity are about through with harvest, some have their grain threshed already.

PRESBYTERY.

The Presbytery met in the Presbyterian church last evening at 7 o'clock.

Present.—The Rev'd Messrs. Livingstone, (moderator), Robertson, Pittblado, Gordon, Matheson, Prof. Bryce, Penson, McGuire, Scott, Ross, Farquharson, Mowat, Tibb, Lawrence, McKellar, MacRae, McConnell, Woodward, Stalker, Macneil, Slett, Prof. Hart, Ramsay, McKay, Johnson, Cameron, (J. H.) Davidson, and Messrs. Fussell, Grant, McKnight, and Artman, elders.

The commencement was devoted to a conference on certain subjects agreed upon by a committee appointed at last meeting. The following subjects were discussed: 1st, The source and conditions of spiritual power. This subject was introduced by the Rev. Mr. Farquharson, and the Rev. Messrs. Scott and McGuire took part in the discussion. 2nd, How to enlist church members in Christian work. This was introduced by the Rev. Mr. Weir, and Rev. Mr. Robertson and others. 3rd, How to increase spirituality and Christian life among the young. Introduced by the Rev. Mr. Pittblado. The meeting was large, and the excellent choir of the congregation contributed much to the success of the meeting. The proceedings were of a very interesting and profitable nature.

A report of moderation in a call for a minister for German and associated stations, on the 9th of August last, was sent in by the Rev. Mr. Tweed. The call was signed by 37 communicants and concurred in by 63 adherents. The call was hearty and unanimous and in favor of the Rev. W. R. Ross. The amount of stipend guaranteed is $600 payable half yearly. Mr. McKnight, elder, appeared as commissioner from the congregation in support of the call. Mr. Towns' conduct in moderating was sustained, and he was thanked for his services. On motion of Rev. Messrs. Farquharson and McGuire, it was agreed to sustain the call as a regular and gospel call, and to place it in the hands of the Rev. Mr. Ross for his consideration. This was done, and Mr. Ross' request for time to consider the call was granted.

The Rev. Mr. McConnell reported that he had moderated in a call from Minnedosa on the 3rd of August. The call was hearty and unanimous and was signed by 28 communicants and concurred in by 34 adherents, and in favor of the Rev. Mr. Wellwood. A guarantee of a stipend of $650 accompanied the call. Mr. Gillies was heard as a commissioner for the congregation in support of the call. The conduct of the Rev. Mr. McConnell in moderating in said call was, on motion, approved of, and he was thanked for his services.

On motion of the Rev. Messrs. McKellar and Farquharson, the call was sustained as a regular gospel call, and placed in Mr. Wellwood's hands for his consideration. Time to consider was granted.

The Presbytery then adjourned at a late hour to meet at 10 o'clock to-day, (Wednesday).
